

■ MINI beasts had Lauren and Charlie Ardley, six and three, in a flutter during a fun park hunt. The children were taking part in the first butterfly watch at Victoria Park, where they made some tiny new friends. Shelly Quinton-Hulme, chairwoman of the Stretford park's friends group, said: "The event went brilliantly. "Children and adults alike were treated to a couple of hours looking at butterflies flying in the park and also hunting for mini beasts."
